EDITORIAL

We have chosen the circus as the theme for this yearbook. The circus, which began in ancient Rome, was at first an exhibition of horse and chariot racing. Today many features have been added that were not present in the days of classical Rome. For now, in addition to feats of horsemanship, we have acrobats, wild animals, and of course the beloved clown. The races of the Romans were held in a large building called the Circus Maximus. The modern circus is nomadic in character, and its performances are given under a tent called the "Big Top." As dear to the hearts of adults as children, the circus is a beloved part of the American and World scene.

We have chosen the circus as a symbol of gaiety and entertainment, badly needed in a world weary from war. As this annual goes to press the peace treaties of World War II have not been signed. People all over the world are just beginning to pick up the thread of their lives and build for a better, happier future. There may be hard times and tension ahead for us all, and we will do well to remember the old saying that laughter is a cure for a lot of troubles.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the Senior Class of Collegiate School for Girls, in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and forty-seven, being of sound and disposing mind, do hereby draw up and publish this, our Last Will and Testament, to wit:

I, Lucy Carter Augustine, leave my Club Card to Pat Shannon.

I, Mary Louise Baumhoff, leave my French "r's" to Libby Patterson to prevent Mrs. G. from becoming lonesome in my absence.

I, Mary Belt, leave my ample figure to Miss Duncan.

I, Betty Bunnell, leave one of my gigantic sweaters to Peggy Duncan in hopes she can shrink it.

I, Barbara Dale, leave for the "Hub" to meet Eddie.

I, Anne Drinard, leave my horse laugh to the highest bidder. Do we hear any offers?

I, Eugenia Ellis, leave "Jim Crow," standing under Senior Study window, for the benefit of the incoming Senior Class.

I, Sarah Geddy, leave my ability to fall in and out of love every twenty-four hours to Betty Shewmake.

I, Marcianne Herr, leave my beautiful southern accent to Betty Collier.

I, Mary Hopper, leave my most salient characteristic to Mary Young.

I, Anne Hulce, leave my beautiful voice to Doris Cannon Davis for use as the fire-alarm, if the office misplaces the bell.

I, Bettie Jones, leave my ballet slippers to Miss Boinest for use on the hockey field.

I, Conrad Little, leave my large vocabulary to Mary Lois Miller so she can be done with baby talk.

I, Joann MacManus, would leave my saddlebag if I could find it.

I, Sue Sale, leave my patent on pin curls to posterity.

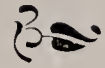

I, Annette Scott, leave my doctor's telephone number to Madame D'Avesne.

I, Patsy Stevens, leave my ever-present hair-ribbon to Eva Eissman.

I, Betty Williams, leave a lock of my notoriously "curly" hair to Barbara Sloan.

P R O P H E C Y

While gazing in my crystal ball,
I saw the class of '47.
There are eighteen girls in all,
The finest group this side of heaven.
The President of the United States,
Our own Joann — that's right —
In her try for victory
Is staging quite a fight
With Marcianne Herr Harriman,
The wife of Averill dear,
Who is working to save him from MacManus —
Quite a job, I fear.
B. Dale, since she has left us,
To this day has learned no mo';
For still all she can recite
Is — guess what — "Little Flo."
What happened to Mary Louise today
Is a history making event.
She drove along 15 miles per hour,
And thru the rain she went.
At the home of Miss Helen Moon
Bettie Jones may still be found.
My advice to you, dear Girl —
"Don't let geometry get you down!"
Annette Scott's newest shoes
Are really quite a wow.
She's still going her friends one better —
Seven inches the heels are now.
Bunnell's latest magazine
("Band Box" is the name)
Shows fashions for the tall thin girl,
And is riding straight to fame.
Miss Augustine (that blond bombshell)
Has forgotten every "Him"
Instead — to occupy her time —
She's teaching Collegiate's gym.
A famous scientist is Anne D.,
For now she's found a way
To nip "his" asthma in the bud.
She saved her rep. that day.

Anne Hulce still supplies
(Be he tall or thin)
A Saturday night escort
For each and every friend.
Straight from Hampden-Sydney
Dear Conrad still receives
From faithful Fred who's yet up there,
Her shipment of "cup B's."
Mary Hopper's horse farm
Has fields of grass and clover.
Each day she takes a spin that way
Her trainers to look over.
Finally, with dishes washed,
Sarah's on her way
Up to good old Charlottesville.
May all her times be gay.
Eugenia's latest novel
Is quite a hit you know.
Its very fitting title is
"Memoirs of Jim Crow."
Quite a doctor will be Miss Stevens
Long as her voice she keeps.
No shots or pills does she use;
She croons the folks to sleep.
Herbert, in his daily column,
"The Had and Hadn't Oughts's,"
Has just pronounced Miss Betty Williams
Belle of all the gay French quarters.
Sue Sale, whom we considered
The perfect housewife (and how)
Has just acquired another husband.
Twenty-five she's had by now.
There's one sure thing about M. B.
And you'll agree, I think —
If all her poems are like this one
As a poet she will.....

MARY BELT.

THE WORLD of TOMORROW

Have you thought of the world of tomorrow that your son or daughter will face? For them to get ahead in this new world of opportunity, a high school education will be only a beginning. Business and industry of tomorrow will demand college training as a prerequisite. The young man or woman who marches into the world of tomorrow with untrained hands will be doomed to mediocrity. They will be just square pegs in round holes. Life insurance is the only way that a father can solve this financial problem with certainty. Let us show you how you can be certain that your son or daughter will get the training that will start them off right in the world of tomorrow.
